ONE OF THE ZERO JOBS

Night watchman in the land of the moon's night.

Echoes in a Used-Car Shop
"YES, sir; if she ain't right we'll fix her up or make a reasonable allowance."
"That's the original paint; a coat of varnish'll make her look like new."
"Good rubber all around and a brand-new spare."
"She's a late '16! That's when they was puttin' out their best jobs."
"No, sir; that ain't wore off; that's a slip cover."
"She's hardly been used at all; a woman drove her."
"Yes, the mileage on that speedometer is just about right for that model."
"That tappet noise'll iron out all right just as soon as she's under load."
"The longer you run this motor, the sweeter she gets."
"Permanent? No, indeed! You won't hear a thing—not a whisper—after we take that water knock out of the radiator."
"Skipin' a little maybe; wait'll she gets warmed up."
"Tightenin' up them body bolts an' a little paddlin' stop that squeak."
"Tain't good for a car to take hills like that on high, anyway."
"Of course, y' gotta expect to spend a little gittin' her tuned up."
"I thought you knew them wheels wasn't demountable."
"We can't keep on fixin' her; she was O.K. when you took her out, wasn't she?"
"Well, good-night; you didn't expect a new car, did you?"
CLAUDE SCHAFFNER.

"Times" Daily Short Story

The Handbook of Hymen

By O. HENRY

WE WAS snowed in, me and Idaho; had been for two weeks.

One morning Idaho was poking around with a stick on top of a little shelf that was too high to reach. Two books fell down to the floor. I started toward 'em, but caught Idaho's eye. He speaks for the first time in a week.

"Don't burn your fingers," says he. "In spite of the fact that you're only fit to be the companion of a sleeping mud-turtle, I'll give you a square deal. And that's more than your parents did when they turned you loose afternoon when I was on my way over to take her a basket of wild hog-plums. I met the lady coming down the lane that led to her house. Her eyes was snapping, and her hat made a dangerous dip over one eye.

"Mr. Pratt," she opens up, "this Mr. Green is a friend of yours. I believe."

"For nine years," says I.

"Out him out," says she. "He's no gentleman."

River since I knew him he has been setting to me a lot of irreligious rhymes by some person he calls Ruby Ott, and who is no better than she

"Go on, Mr. Pratt," says Mrs. Sampson. "Them ideas is so original and soothing."

in the world with the sociability of a rattlesnake and the bedside manner of a frozen turnip. I'll play you a game of seven-up, the winner to pick up his choice of the book, the loser to take the other."

We played; and Idaho won. He picked up his book; and I took mine. Then each of us got on his side of the house and went to reading.

I never was as glad to see a tenniscup mug as I was that book. And Idaho looked at his like a kid looks at a stick of candy.

It was a little book about five by six inches called "Herkimer's Handbook of Indispensable Information."

"I may be wrong, but I think that was the greatest book that ever was written. I've got it today; and I can stump you or any man fifty times in five minutes with the information in it."

I sat and read that book for four hours. All the wonders of education was compressed in it.

"Idaho," says I, "what kind of a book is yours?"

Idaho must have forgot, too, for he answered moderately, without any slander or malignity.

"Why," says he, "this here seems to be a volume by Homer K. M."

"Homer K. M. what?" I asked.

"Why, just Homer K. M.," says he. "You're a liar," says I, a little riled that Idaho should try to put me up a tree.

"No man is going round signing books with his initials. If it's Homer K. M. Spopendyk, or Homer K. M. McDevener, or Homer K. M. Jones, why don't you say so like a man instead of biting off the end of it like a calf chewing off the tail of a shirt on a clothes-line?"

"I put it to you straight, Sandy," says Idaho, quiet. "It's a poem book."

Idaho, by Homer K. M. I couldn't get color out of it at first, but there's a vein if you follow it up. I wouldn't have missed this book for a pair of red blankets."

"You're welcome to it," says I. "What I want is a disinterested statement of facts for the mind to work on, and that's what I seem to find in the book I've drawn."

"What you've got," says Idaho, "is statistics, the lowest grade of information that exists."

So that's the way me and Idaho had it. Day and night all the excitement we got was studying our books. That snowstorm sure fixed us with a fine lot of attainments apiece.

That spring me and Idaho struck pay ore. Rosa was no mining camp. It laid in the valley, and was free of uproot. Mrs. Sampson was a widow, and owned the only two-story house in town. Twenty-two men in Rosa beside me and Idaho was trying to stake a claim on that yellow house.

There was a dance after the song books and quail bones had been raked out of the hall. Twenty-three of the bunch galloped over to Mrs. Sampson and asked for a dance. I sidestepped the two-step, and asked permission to escort her home. That's where I made a hit.

On the way home she says: "Ain't the stars lovely and bright tonight, Mr. Pratt?"

"For the chance they've got," says I. "they're humping themselves in a mighty creditable way. That big one you see is sixty-six billions of miles distant. It took thirty-six years for its light to reach us. With an eighteen-foot telescope you can see forty-three millions of 'em, including them of the thirteenth magnitude, which, if one was to go out now, you would keep on seeing it for twenty-seven hundred years."

"My!" says Mrs. Sampson. "I never knew that before. How warm it is! I'm as damp as I can be from dancing so much."

"That's easy to account for," says I. "When you happen to know that you've got two million sweat-glands working all at once. If every one of your perspiratory ducts, which are a quarter of an inch long, was placed end to end, they would reach a distance of seven miles."

"Lewy!" says Mrs. Sampson. "It sounds like an irrigation ditch you was describing, Mr. Pratt. How do you get all this knowledge of information?"

"From observation, Mrs. Sampson," tells her. "I keep my eyes open when I go about the world."

"Mr. Pratt," says she, "I always did admire a man of education. There are so few scholars among the esophageal plug-uglies of this town that it is a real pleasure to converse with a gentleman of culture. I'd be gratified to have you call at my house whenever you feel so inclined."

I never imagined that Idaho was trying to work on Mrs. Sampson with old K. M.'s rules of courtship till one

it. Good old Herkimer, he never overlooked anything! It said:

Surfing on inhaling smoke or gas—There is nothing better than flaxseed. Place a few seeds in the outer corner of the eye.

I shoved the Handbook back in my pocket, and grabbed a boy that was running by.

"Here," says I, giving him some money, "run to the drug store and bring a dollar's worth of flaxseed. Hurry, and you'll get another one for yourself. Now," I sing out to the crowd, "we'll have Mrs. Sampson!"

And I throw away my coat and hat. Four of the freemen and citizens grab hold of me. It's sure death, they say, to go in the house, for the floor was beginning to fall through.

"How in blazes," I sing out, kind of laughing yet, but not feeling like it, "do you expect me to put flaxseed in a eye without the eye?"

I jabbed each elbow in a freeman's face, kicked the back of of one citizen's shin, and tripped the other one with a side hold. And then I busted into the house. I got to Mrs. Sampson's room. She'd lost consciousness from the smoke, so I wrapped her in the bed clothes and got her on my shoulder.

I carried her out fifty yards from the house and laid her on the grass. She opened her eyes and says:

"B-a-a-sh," says I. "Don't talk till you've had the remedy."

I run my arm around her neck and raises her head, gentle, and breaks the bag of flaxseed with the other hand; and as easy as I could I bends over and slips three or four of the seeds in the outer corner of her eye.

Up gallops the village doc by this time, and snorts around and grabs at Mrs. Sampson's pulse, and wants to know what I mean by any such sand-blasted nonsense.

"Well, old Jalap and Jerusalem oak-seed," says I. "I'm no regular practitioner, but I'll show you my authority, anyway."

They fetched my coat, and I gets out the Handbook.

"Look on page 117," says I, "at the remedy for suffocation by smoke or gas."

"See here," interrupts Mrs. Sampson. "I reckon I've got something to say in this consultation. That flaxseed done me more good than anything I ever tried. And then she raises up her head and lays it back on my arm again, and says: 'Put some in the other eye, Sandy dear.'"

And so if you was to stop off at Rosa tomorrow, or any other day, you'd see a fine new yellow house with Mrs. Pratt, that was Mrs. Sampson, embellishing and adorning it. And if you was to stop inside you'd see on the marble-top center table in the parlor "Herkimer's Handbook of Indispensable Information," all rebound in red morocco, and ready to be consulted on any subject pertaining to human happiness and wisdom.

En la audiencia preliminar de ayer, ante el juez municipal Rosekrans, sobreseyó éste en la acusación por robo formulada contra William F. El remedio para la triste condición en que se halla la escena no radica en la censura, sino en impedir que se sigan construyendo teatros en Nueva York, según declaró ayer en una entrevista Morris Cost, empresario de "El Millagro."
Dice que ya hay en Nueva York número exagerado de teatros de comedia. Ni todos los dramaturgos del mundo podrían producir suficientes obras para llenar los teatros que se construyen. De allí que éstos se ven obligados a recurrir a las producciones de otros países, lo que no es bueno para el arte.

La concurrencia a las representaciones nocturnas del Drama de la Nación en el nuevo teatro de los de San Gabriel, están batiendo el record, según noticias del gerente Norman Brown.

Young Names Condee of Chino to Farm Board
SACRAMENTO, March 10. (P)—Richard A. Condee of Chino today was reappointed by Gov. C. G. Young as a member of the State Board of Agriculture. Two other appointments on the board remain to be made.

Condee was re-elected president of the Agricultural Board within two hours after Gov. Young had reappointed him for another four-year term. Other officers also were re-elected. Charles W. Palm, veteran secretary-manager, being reelected, was T. H. Ramsey of Red Bluff, vice-president.

George S. Gould of Baltimore later announced his resignation from the board because, he said, he could not spare the time from his business to devote to the State post.

Carpeting a Whole Room Without a Seam!

THERE IS something infinitely restful and decidedly smart in the smooth expanse of seamless carpet. Barker Bros.' wide selection of carpeting provides such a possibility from the smallest rooms to those of spacious dimensions. For example, fine carpeting is available at Barker Bros. in widths up to 18 feet. Consider what that means! In those gorgeously large rooms, as wide as many rooms are long, one may use smart carpeting that shows no disfiguring seam!

MODERN architecture has opened up a new problem in floor covering—that of individually shaped rooms. While these innovations add much of interest to smart interiors, they make it increasingly difficult to find rugs that fit. Carpeting solves the question! No matter how unusual the proportions of your rooms, you can have a rug made that will exactly fit. At Barker Bros. you may choose Velvet, Wilton, Axminster and Chenille in colors to suit your decorative scheme and in widths up to 18 feet.

Velvet Carpets

LEAST EXPENSIVE of the carpetings comes the velvet—and yet very delightful effects are possible here. Attractive tones of rose and taupe make charming rugs—$6.50 per square yard. It comes in 3-foot, 9-foot and 12-foot widths.

9x12 rug (made up)	$78
12x15 rug (made up)	$130

THREE LOVELY COLORS are available in these high-pile Axminsters—taupe, sand and rose. This, too, comes in the 3-foot, 9-foot and 12-foot widths and is only $8.50 square yard.

ARMS TREATY STILL IN FORCE

No Steps Taken to Annul
Pact With Mexico

Fact Regarded as Sign of Relations Stability

Propaganda Charge Revealed
by Congress Record

WASHINGTON, March 10. (P)—One sign of stability in Mexican-American relations, for the present at least, is seen here in the fact that no official step has been taken toward termination of the smuggling treaty signed a year ago by the two countries to regulate the transborder shipment of arms, liquor and other commodities.

The treaty became effective on March 28, 1926, and was for one year expired, provided neither side asked for cancellation. A thirty-day notice from either government would terminate it.

Under the terms, notice of arms shipments or shipments of any other commodities embargoed by Mexico would have to be given the Mexican government even if the American embargo on exportation of arms to Mexico were lifted. State Department officials declined to say today whether there had been any recent discussion of the smuggling treaty, but they did say no notice of termination had been given.

That lifting of the arms embargo has been among the possibilities considered here has never been disguised by officials, although they have refused to predict what would be done.

RECORD DISCLOSES
CHARGE OF PROPAGANDA
WASHINGTON, March 10. (P)—An issue of the Congressional Record which came from the printers today contained a charge of Representative Gallivan, Democrat, Massachusetts, that the Mexican government had "expended almost $2,000,000" in a campaign to discredit President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg.

The fund, which Gallivan charged was spent by the Mexican government at Washington and the Mexican Consul-General at New York, also was used, he added, "to subsidize preachers and professors to attack the President of the United States."

NEW YORK, March 10. (P)—Alexander Kerensky, who led the first attempt at democratic government in Russia and was ousted by the Bolsheviks, believes it impossible to attain the democratic ideal anywhere in the world under present social conditions. The United States has the nearest approach to the ideal, he thinks.

"The quality of opportunity, which you have in America, while not yet bringing the country to a perfect state, distinguishes America favorably from European countries," he said today.

"We are witnessing in the world the beginning of a real democracy and America is furthest ahead."

"An intensive economic development, possible now only under capitalist institutions, is the necessary prerequisite for the future real democracy. The real democracy is not only political but economic."

"The world meaning of the Bolshevik experiment in Russia is that they wanted there to build a social democracy through the destruction of political democracy. In overthrowing capitalism Russia was forced later to go back to the beginning of capitalist accumulation as a result."

M. Kerensky gave his views in French, English and Russian and also made use of an interpreter, but for emphasis he used French.

After a week in New York he said his chief impression of American life was its "creative intensity."

"I am overwhelmed by it. America represents a very intensive and creative human effort. Here the human being is more free, hampered by less prejudice and tradition than in Europe. It is a new country."

"Do you believe that in present-day competitive society there is any freedom of the individual?"

"Yes, all freedom is relative, anyway. I know that many good Americans are dissatisfied with the social conditions in America, and that is a good thing, for the dissatisfied are the social revolutionaries and the contributing cause of progress. In saying that America has more elements for rapid development along social lines than any other country, including Russia, I am aware that you are not perfect here, but that you are ahead of any other country in Europe. I have been all over Europe and speak from comparison. At a time when the world is looking to international progress, America is the decisive factor and it is of world importance whether the American people attain to their potentialities for political maturity."

Kerensky said a regime inspired by his ideas of democracy would be as different from the present Russian dictatorship as the provisional government was different from the Czar's. "The working people of Russia are the most oppressed people in the world," he added.

YOUNG OUTLINES HIGHWAY NEEDS

Addresses Convention of County Supervisors

Cooperation Keynote in Road Discussion

Danger of Losing Federal Aid Pointed Out

SACRAMENTO, March 10. (P)—

Addressing co-operation and recognition of mutual problems in their keynote, Gov. Young and other speakers representing the State presented their views on the highway situation today before the delegates attending the seventh annual convention of the County Supervisors' Association of California, which is in session in the chambers at the Court House for the second of a three-day session.

The problems at the State capital with State government are the same as at the county level, declared Gov. Young, who presided State Highway Commissioner Engineer R. M. Morton and Senator Arthur H. Reed to the speakers' stand.

Administration will lend every aid in the solving of mutual problems, he said, and county governments, he said, must have something done to prevent destruction of highways in California.

ROAD FUNDS LACKING
"Highway construction has ceased for the past two years because there has been no money to finance it, but we must resume it to keep up with the progress and development of the State," he said.

"We need better lines of communication and it is cheaper to have permanent roads than to have temporary ones," he said.

Although new construction in the State highway system during the past two years has been limited to less than $5,000,000 in Federal aid, the prospects for the future of the road system were never brighter, he said, pending legislation, Mr. Mortimer said.

The Federal aid money, Baumgardner pointed out, is not an advance payment to the State to assist in the construction of roads, but rather is a rebate paid only after the State has provided the initial construction. This arrangement, he said, tends to slow up construction, and he said that California with the low of some of the Federal aid money, unless some speedy means of financing are devised, this is because the State lacks sufficient funds to match the Federal money.

He said the State should proceed with work on such projects as have been designated for Federal aid, he said.

This condition may be alleviated by payment of the bond bills now pending before the Legislature. These bills propose a 1-cent increase in the State tax and appropriation of the money to the State Highway Department for construction of primary and secondary highways. The full benefit of the measure, however, he said, will not be felt until early in 1928.

CO-ORDINATION URGED
Mr. Morton told the supervisors he agreed with the State and with the county on a system of road-building highways on which they would spend their share of the gas-tax revenue. The State's share of the money, he said, is spent on roads designated by the Legislature, and he said that his belief was that the county should be permitted to spend their half of the revenue on any road which happens to be a place for it.

The years of operation under a system where the State had a voice in the county road building, he said, would result in a more co-ordinated improvement of the highways of local roads. The counties, he said, would not be losing by such a system and the people would have much more uniformity of county roads and the condition of county roads, and the supervisors also would gain in the maintenance of the roads, he said, by an absence of a co-ordinated system for local road development.

THE Chinese Giant—with the strength of four hundred million people—has awakened from his sleep of 4,700 years! He is rising from his native soil to throw off the power of alien treaties and concessions in the Orient—rocking those two pillars of the white man's strength in the Far East!

NEW DEAL IN FINANCE CIRCLE ON

Large Stockholders in Fresh Move for Control of Union Mortgage

Another effort is being made by some of the larger stockholders of the Union Mortgage Company of California to obtain control of the company and place its affairs in new hands, according to a statement made yesterday by a stockholder and officer of the company.

Notices have been mailed by A. L. DeBar, secretary, to all stockholders holding common shares in the company, notifying them that the stockholders' meeting will be held at the office of the company on the 22nd inst.

While the stock of the Union Mortgage Company is unlisted, the price on the market has been gradually increasing due to a campaign on the part of the stockholders to acquire shares of the common stock to swing control at the coming meeting. Fifteen dollars will be elected at the meeting, and it is anticipated there may be several changes.

DeBar, the secretary of Lloyd W. McAttee last April, the affairs of the company have been managed by Jonathan S. Dodge, chairman of the board, and McAttee, who is now chairman of the board, has been in charge of the company since the death of McAttee in 1925. Although Mr. McAttee has resigned as president of the company, no audit of the company's books has been completed by Price, Waterhouse & Co., reveals that in a financial way the company is in better condition than a year ago. The report shows a favorable condition in that the previous indebtedness of $6,000,000 has been paid in full and a cash balance of more than $500,000 is now on hand.

Roach Studios Votes Capital Stock Increase

Other business at the meeting included the election of Lester Smith, Frick, Martin & Co., and Benjamin W. Shipman, Los Angeles attorney, to the board of directors of the Roach Studios, Inc. Mr. Shipman, who has handled the legal affairs of the studio for several years, is now to become associated with Roach as business manager, devoting a portion of his time to the supervision of some of the studio's production work.

The studio, which is located at 14141 Wilshire Blvd., is the largest of its kind in the world. Under this arrangement, Mr. Shipman will be able to devote more time to active participation in production.

Program for Nation-Wide String Reported Under Way; Branch Expansion Now Restricted

BY EARLE R. CROWE

As the next step in the making of banking history in the United States, the report has gone forth that a group of bankers is planning a nation-wide chain under the control of a holding company. The Spectacle interests in San Francisco are mentioned as negotiators for the sale of the United Bank and Trust Company of San Francisco to the proposed company, this bank to be the western end of the chain.

Whether this report is true or not is not of particular concern at this time. But so far as it suggests the trend it is of more than ordinary significance. The creation of the state-wide Bank of Italy branch system in California sets an example that none of the other large banking groups in the United States can even expect to equal along the same line and under the existing laws, but is something that can only be done under by another method of approach. This method is the holding company.

Merger of Wilmington Seaboard Commercial is Announced

Purchase of the Seaboard Commercial and Savings Bank of Wilmington by California Bank interests was announced yesterday by Andrew M. Chaffey, president of the California Bank. This office will be known as the Seaboard branch of the California Bank, and permission covering the merger has already been granted by Will C. Woods, Superintendent of Banks.

Paul Rubank, formerly president of the Seaboard institution, was elected a junior vice-president of the California Bank and will remain in direct charge of operations of the Seaboard branch, assisted by Earl S. Watt and H. N. Yerkes, assistant secretaries. Formerly vice-president and cashier, respectively.

The Seaboard Commercial and Savings Bank was incorporated by Paul Rubank, Sr., recently deceased. He and his associates sold the First National Bank of Wilmington to the Pacific Southwest banking interests some months ago, retaining at that time the Seaboard Savings Bank. Shortly thereafter this bank became the Seaboard Commercial and Savings Bank, and under the management of the elder Rubank and his son it has attained the position of one of the strongest of the harbor banks. As of December 31, last, the assets of the bank were $7,127,653. This is the second bank in a few weeks that the California interests have acquired in the bay and harbor district.

Fortieth Year Turned by Loan Company Here

Today the Southern California Building and Loan Association, oldest in Southern California, will celebrate the fortieth anniversary of its birth. The association was organized in the early days of Los Angeles by a group composed principally of officers and employees of the Southern California Building and Loan Association. At its fortieth anniversary the total assets are $5,000,000. In this time the population of Los Angeles has risen from 50,000 to 1,250,000.

The company is managed by a group including Charles E. Donahue, president; Maurice S. Hallinan, vice-president; J. W. Montgomery, secretary; H. H. Martin, secretary; Norman R. Martin, general manager; H. H. Martin, secretary; and H. H. Martin, secretary.

In printing and publishing, value created by the industry accounts for 75 per cent of the finished products. The figures for 1925, the value added by manufacture in this industry reached the sum of $1,859,579,534, which is $1,435,420,000 more than two years before, an increase of 18.6 per cent. The business proper comprises the newspaper, which reported an aggregate income of $292,042,123. The magazine business made an increase double that of newspapers during the two-year period, the total income in 1925 being $429,516,911.

In the newspaper and periodical branches combined, the number of employees averaged 117,002. There were 10,620 printing establishments in operation. The sum of $217,540,000 was paid in wages and an additional $85,877,570 for contract work.

Values Created by Printing at Top of Trades

Based on values added by manufacture, the printing and publishing business stands first of all industries in the United States, says an article in the current number of the American Bankers' Association Journal. The census uses a method of ranking industries based on the value added by manufacture.

LONDON, March 10. (By Wire)—Today's markets were quiet and steady, the only features being the slight rally in the oil shares.

Considerable disappointment was expressed here that the Indian currency bill was passed by so small a majority.

At yesterday's meeting of the British Metal Corporation, the chairman of the board of directors, company consumption in the United States last year with all other countries, estimated that America uses 97 per cent of the world's production of copper, 55 per cent of tin, 54 per cent of lead and 44 per cent of spelter.

The impending Italian loan in New York and London is connected with the Italian government's subsidy of certain Italian shipping companies. The subsidy is apparently being given as a guarantee. The object is to provide new tonnage. The English proposal is to loan £10,000,000 and carries a 7 per cent coupon.

MIDCONTINENT PAYS DIVIDEND ON COMMON

NEW YORK, March 10. (AP)—Directors of the Midcontinent Petroleum Corporation, formerly Coudens & Co., declared on the quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share on the present common stock, payable May 1 to holders of record April 1.

The company's earnings for 1926 were $7,000,926, the year before. This is an equal after preferred and minority dividends to $6,615,711 from $7,000,926, the year before.

TANKERS PURCHASED

NEW YORK, March 10. (AP)—Standard Oil Company of New York recently bought three tankers from the company of Sun Oil Company and one from Atlantic Gulf and West Indies steamship lines, each with about 10,000 tons carrying capacity, at a total cost reported to be $2,500,000.

CALPET PROFITS IN YEAR HIGHER

Net Earnings for 1926 Total $6,608,567.26

Equal to $3.44 on Common as Against $3.26 in 1925

Depreciation and Depletion Write-Off $5,008,521

Reciting a record of steady expansion along all lines and the establishment of a new high record in net income of the annual report of the California Petroleum Corporation was released yesterday by Jacques Vincent, president. Net income for the year ended December 31, last, amounted to $6,608,567.26, an increase of approximately 8 per cent over 1925, and the equivalent to $3.44 on the average number of shares outstanding during the year. In 1925 earnings were equivalent to $3.26 in 1,700,005 shares outstanding.

Reflecting the levy of heavy charges for depreciation and depletion, the report shows that earnings before these charges were the equivalent of $7.91 a share. The sum of $5,008,521 was set up during the year as additional reserve for depreciation and depletion, bringing the total accumulated reserve to $29,930,000.46. Against property values of $10,544,818.80, the reserve is equal to 39 per cent of the amount at which properties are carried.

As President Vincent states in the report, the year's program was directed to expansion in the way of increasing the volume of the company's sale of refined products, and further reinforcement of the production and refining positions. Sales in 1926 totaled in excess of $50,000,000, and the products were distributed in the domestic market from British Columbia on the north to Mexico on the south, and in the Northwest as far as Minnesota. Foreign trade connections now include the countries of Argentina, Chile, Australia, New Zealand, China, Philippine Islands, Japan, Mexico, Cuba, India, the Society Islands, and the Hawaiian Islands.

New properties acquired during the year included the California Gasoline Corporation, Northern Star Oil Refining Company, Arctic Petroleum, Shering, Ltd., Western Petroleum Exploration Corporation, Petroleum Refining Corporation, properties in the Los Angeles and San Francisco districts. The Wyoming properties have been placed under the California Petroleum Corporation.

In all, California Petroleum expended $18,244,379.17 in 1926 for the acquisition of new properties, for the development of old properties, and for additions and betterments to existing physical plant. Of this, $1,435,420,000 was for the acquisition of new properties, $1,435,420,000 for the development of old properties, and $1,435,420,000 for additions and betterments to existing physical plant.

The president of the French Chamber of Deputies gave 152,000 francs salary but is making his expenses about $50,000 francs.

BONDS GIVEN NEW IMPETUS

Treasury Announcement of Refunding Program for Liberty Held Signal for Renewed Buying

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT

(Copyright, 1927, by New York Evening Post, Inc.)

NEW YORK, March 10. (Exclusive)—After a temporary period of lethargy the bond market has taken on new life in the last few days and interest in its activities at the moment is more lively than that in the stock market itself.

The signal for a resumption of spirited bond buying came in the form of Secretary Mellon's announcement of the government's financing plans, but the market had gone through a period of slight indigestion and was ready for the forward movement that the Secretary of the Treasury appears to have touched off.

The rise to new record peaks in all government issues, the ready absorption of a $45,000,000 mortgage obligation yesterday on a $18 basis and the general pick-up in activity throughout the bond list reflects the new tone of the market.

New financing for 1927 to date totals $1,860,188,000, which sets a new record for all time and compares with a total for the same period last year of $1,313,294,000. This represents a substantial increase in the volume of new flotations that the market has been called upon to absorb. It so happens that stock offerings this year to date have been much smaller than bond offerings, however, so that the relative increase in new bond issues for 1927 to date is larger than the bond figures indicate. The aggregate of bond flotations thus far marketed is $1,401,155,000 as against $1,021,294,000 a year ago.

After the flood of new capital issues in January, the dealers checked the tide for a time to allow for an adequate distribution. It takes only a short time for the wholesalers to assign a large issue to the distributing agents, but the mechanics of distribution are solving themselves and that from now on the market will be in position to absorb its full proportion of new issues.

Not the least encouraging aspect of the bond situation is that the usual large volume of offerings has not depressed prices. It has slowed down the pace of activity for the moment, but in virtually all groups the price level has been maintained. Leading Wall Street bankers look upon this as a fairly conclusive evidence that the investment market is in a sound state. More and more they are coming to the view that it should remain so for a long period.

They have taken an especial hope from Secretary Mellon's attitude and from their appreciation of the fact that a larger and larger amount of funds invested originally in government securities will necessarily be turned into investments of other descriptions as the years pass.

The president of the French Chamber of Deputies gave 152,000 francs salary but is making his expenses about $50,000 francs.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, March 10. (AP)—While rapid recapitulation of United States government issues continued in today's bond market, the demand appeared set to include high-grade securities in the practice of yield. Buoyancy of prices indicated that buyers are reacting favorably to the Treasury Department's continuing with its implied belief in a continuation of easy money conditions. The steady and heavy subscription of the government short-term issues in the past few days has given investors who have accepted the reduced interest rate as a reliable barometer of credit conditions.

Mrs. Rowan Accused as "False Prophetess" in Conspiracy Trial

DOCTOR TELLS OF PAST LIFE

Testimony Given in Hearing of Asserted Plot

Former Member of Cult Tells of Back-Tracking

Head of Sect and Two of Followers Suspected

The story of a minister of the gospel who turned detective and for two years back-tracked on the cross-country trail of a prophetess was unfolded to a packed audience yesterday in Municipal Judge Macy's court.

The exceptional recital came from the lips of Dr. Burt E. Fuller, star witness for the state in the preliminary hearing of Mrs. Margaret W. Rowan, Dr. J. F. Baker and Mary A. Wade, charged jointly with conspiracy to murder Dr. Fuller.

Mrs. Rowan is the cult leader and prophetess who gained nationwide notoriety two years ago by predicting the end of the world. The other two defendants are her followers. Dr. Fuller, a physician, testified that he was ordained a minister in 1899.

Through the medium of direct and cross-examination he told a detailed story of his association with the prophetess, whose "experiences" he testified he once had faith in, until the time she said to have incited Dr. Baker and Miss Wade to assault him with a gas pipe and a hypodermic needle in a Lankershim auto-camp cabin a week ago last Sunday.

HELD FALSE PROPHETESS

Convinced that Mrs. Rowan was a false prophetess, Dr. Fuller testified, he went after the facts and his search led him to the Northwest and the Middle West and East. The facts he found, he asserted, convinced him of the "craftiness and dishonesty" of Mrs. Rowan. He offered to present in court documentary evidence to support his charges.

After gathering what he termed the proofs of Mrs. Rowan's duplicity, Dr. Fuller declared that he returned and surrounded the scenes and the other two defendants with a "line of questions" which they did not answer.

Following Fuller on the stand was W. E. Smith, an investigator for the telephone company, who testified that a telephone call from Lankershim to Dr. Fuller's number in Hollywood was recorded on the Sunday of the asserted assault at the Van Nuys office. The introduction of this witness was looked upon as a move by the prosecution to lay a foundation for testimony purporting to show who the person was who telephoned Dr. Fuller that an old friend was waiting for him at the auto camp, the rule said to have deceived the doctor to the out-of-the-way spot.

DOCTOR TESTIFIES

Dr. L. S. Weiborn of Van Nuys testified that he attended Dr. Fuller just after the asserted assault and treated him for a cut over the eye and a bump on the back of the head. He further testified that from symptoms he observed that from the assault Dr. Fuller was suffering

He did not believe, he stated, that any of these implements were in the place when he rented it and was certain about the latter articles.

Plan to Protect

Outlying Areas

As a part of the plan of Sheriff Trager to organize a new squad for the protection of ranches and outlying sections, Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Wright yesterday ordered Capt. Peoples and Townsend to part-time duty at substations in order to train deputies along certain lines.

Capt. Peoples, head of the robbery squad, was detailed to morning duty at Substation No. 1 to carry out plans of the Sheriff. Likewise Capt. Townsend was sent to Substation No. 2 for similar purpose.

Deputy Barker of the burglary squad, and Deputy West, robbery squad, were detailed to Substation No. 1. Deputies Brooks and McDermott, robbery squad, were detailed to Substation No. 2.

In the morning, while the plans are being perfected, Deputy Purrier will be in charge of the burglary squad and Deputy Vaughan in charge of the robbery squad.

Dr. Henry Van Dyke Will Speak at Luncheon With Boston Merchant

Dr. Henry Van Dyke, one of the best-known American preachers, writers and lecturers, has been added to the list of speakers for the Chamber of Commerce luncheon at the Alexandria Hotel at noon today, according to A. G. Arnold, secretary and general manager of the chamber. The topic to be discussed by Dr. Van Dyke is not announced.

Edward A. Filene, president of William Filene's Sons Company, one of the largest department stores in Boston, ex-president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and advisory counsel of the International Chamber of Commerce, will be the principal speaker of the day. He will have as his topic, "The Outlook for Business Property," in which he will enumerate the reasons for a favorable year for the business enterprises of the country.

Supplementing Mr. Filene's talk will be a review of the railroad situation of the United States by A. T. Bledsoe, general counsel for the Atchafalaya, Tropic and Santa Fe Railroad at Chicago.

MANY FACING TAX PENALTY

25 Per Cent Fine to Be Added to Hills of Those Who Miss Tuesday Dead Line

Thousands of Southern California taxpayers are facing heavy fines for failure to pay their 1926 income taxes, Calen H. Welch, Collector of Internal Revenue, announced yesterday. Only four days remain in which income returns may be filed, and thousands apparently are failing to heed the numerous warnings issued by Mr. Welch that returns must be filed by midnight Tuesday.

For failure to make returns on time, a fine of 25 per cent of the tax is imposed by the government. For the convenience of taxpayers, the office of the Internal Revenue Department will remain open until 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

RED LINE TELLS OF BUS INROADS

Southern Pacific owns the Pacific Electric system, with the exception of some negligible shares.

"The Southern Pacific," said Mr. Carr, "has advanced to the Pacific Electric money to pay interest on outstanding bonds that had not been earned and had charged up interest periodically. The Pacific Electric, however, the Southern Pacific canceled out those advances, including interest, the total amounting to $14,655,897.27."

"In other words," the Pacific Electric started out in January, 1925, with a clean slate in so far as any surplus or deficit was concerned. In addition another cancellation of interest accrued amounting to $1,800,297.78 was made. The cancellation was made by Mr. Carr as a contribution in service to the community served by the Pacific Electric from 1911 to 1925."

BLAMES AUTOMOBILES

During the course of his testimony Mr. Smith expressed the opinion that the privately owned automobile in Southern California is responsible for the inability of the company to make any money on passenger service.

It was brought out by T. J. Day, freight traffic manager for the company, that the freight business is a distinct asset to the road and helps keep the passenger rates down. Freight revenue of the company for the past year are fixed at $6,221,554.

But few questions were asked of the witness in line of questioning. From Carl Bush of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce indicated that residents of his community are interested in knowing whether the Los Angeles city traffic of the company is not being made to bear the brunt of losses sustained by the company on other lines. That is, for instance, whether or not the fare to Hollywood is being raised to offset the losses of the company.

VENICE PROTESTS

During the day a petition was presented by Earl Porter for the Venice Citizens' Traffic Committee protesting against the proposed decrease of Venice one-way fares and a coincident raising of the commutation rates. Culver City wanted to know why she is charged 27 cents for a nine-mile ride within the limits of Los Angeles and Hollywood gets an eight-mile ride for 10 cents.

Among those who appeared for the company were: D. W. Ponitius, vice-president and general manager; H. O. Marler, assistant passenger traffic manager; A. A. Lovell, auditor and secretary; L. E. St. John, assistant auditor; William Simpkins, valuation engineer; and George E. McClure, assistant engineer.

A corps of engineers headed by A. O. Mott, appeared for the Railroad Commission. The city of Los Angeles was represented by Attorney Milton Ryan, J. C. Ronson, J. O. Marsh and Fred F. Call.

Recall Petition

Starts New Quiz

in Barnes City

Another investigation of municipal affairs in Barnes City will be started today, it was announced last night at the District Attorney's office. According to Dep. Dist. Atty. Thomas and Chief Investigator Cobb, they yesterday received a recall petition from citizens who declared a recall petition had disappeared mysteriously and that the City Clerk was given a month's vacation so he could not certify to the signatures on it. An investigation of municipal contracts also was asked for, it was said.

There have been several investigations of Barnes City within the past year but none has produced any tangible results.

'LIAR,' CRIES WOMAN; '$10,' SAYS JUDGE

Short and Ugly Word Used When Policeman Tells of Arresting Her Husband

It cost Mrs. Lorraine Parley $10 to express her opinion of Policeman Howry when the latter went on the witness stand before Municipal Judge Turney to testify against Frank Parley, husband of the woman, who is accused of violations of the Wright Act.

Howry told of the asserted sale and possession of liquor which resulted in Parley being arrested and charged with the liquor-law violations.

"Liar," screamed Mrs. Parley among other things, as she jumped to her feet and shook her fist at the officer.

Judge Turney ordered the woman brought before the bench. "You cannot express your opinion of a witness in a disorderly and insulting fashion," said Judge Turney. "Fine you $10 for contempt of court."

"I will not pay it," the woman exclaimed. "The Constitution guarantees free speech, and you are trying to charge me for it. It isn't fair."

Judge Turney refused to remit the fine and Mrs. Parley was informed that she must pay or go to jail.

"I am paying this under protest," she said, tendering a $10 bill.

DELAY FOR WIDENING OF LA BREA

City Attorney Given Time to Decide on Inclusion of Baldwin Estate Protest

Action on the proceedings for the widening of La Brea avenue from Washington street to Exposition Boulevard was continued by the City Council yesterday until April 11, so that City Attorney Stephens can rule as to whether the protest of the owners of the Baldwin estate property of fifty acres can be considered, and if so, to what extent. Councilman Sparks said that if the Baldwin estate protest is considered, he is convinced that the protest against the widening will be a majority one.

City Engineer Shaw reported to the Council yesterday that his check of the protests, excluding that of the Baldwin estate property, was 40 per cent of the assessment district. The estimated cost of the widening is $450,000 and would make La Brea avenue a 100-foot street from Washington street to Exposition Boulevard.

The widening project has been favored by the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce and other organizations. Councilman Hughes said that an allocation would be made from general funds of $100,000 toward the cost of the widening.

full. He said that he had known Dorothy for four years and had taken her out to movies and dances with the same as other people. He wears a brilliant red scarf which later will be given the bride to tie about her head as a sign that she is married.

Every day during the celebration musicians play almost continuously. There is dancing day and night and a barbecue pit is kept in constant action. The women in the gayest of silks, bedecked with beads and jewelry, and the men, each with a crimson rose in his hair, all turn out to make the occasion a gala one.

There are eighteen families encamped and about 100 members of the tribe. During the six days of merry-making a collection is taken for the benefit of the newlyweds. No contributions less than 25 cents are acceptable and the grand total goes to purchasing a car for the pair with possibly a house thrown in. Other gifts of necklaces of gold coins and diamonds are received by the bride.

Manslaughter Charged Against Death-Car Pilot

Martin Hogan yesterday was accused of manslaughter and driving while intoxicated in a complaint issued by Dep. Dist. Atty. Dennison.

On Sunday, according to the charges, Hogan struck and killed Traffic Officer Frank Bagdahl, on duty in the southwest part of the city. An inquest into Bagdahl's death has been ordered for tomorrow.

PICTURES OF GNOMES WILL BE SHOWN HERE

Bringing lantern slides of photographs of gnomes, sylphs and undines dancing in the woods of Northern England, Edward L. Gardner of London will arrive in Los Angeles next Sunday to lecture at the Woman's Club on "The Coming of the Fairies." The lecture and slides are based on the report made by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle that two little girls in England had seen and taken photographs of dancing fairies. Gardner investigated the matter extensively, and he and experts in the photography of the strange photographs must have been taken of living and moving objects. His lecture advances the theory that many ethnic and astral forms exist in another order of evolution running parallel to and blending with human evolution.

FOREIGN BEAUTY ON HER WAY

Marietta Millner Arrives Sunday to Join Paramount; Milton Sills to Lecture on Films at Harvard; Schertzinger Leaves on New Mission

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

When Harvard University demonstrates its broadmindedness and when the film business evidences its powers of uplift, all of which will occur during the last week in April, at which time leading film artists will give a course of lectures to the business department of old Harvard, one of our most popular film stars will represent the acting end of the business by lecturing on the subject of screen playing.

He is Milton Sills, First National star, who received his appointment by wire no later than yesterday. Mr. Sills is to give his lecture on April 28, when he will tell Harvard students either with or without gestures, how film acting is done. The honor is a signal one, as Mr. Sills has been selected from the whole field of screen players. Formerly Sills was a Fellow at the University of Chicago, at which time he aided the faculty in teaching the young idea to shoot straight in the department of philosophy.

As has been already announced, Sills is to go to New York as soon as he finishes his current First National starring vehicle, which Charles Brabin is directing. The star's wife, Doris Canyon, is ill in a New York sanatorium, but is improving, and he hopes that when he comes back to California, his next picture is to be one with a background. The action taking place behind the Allied lines in France.

Berlin Beauty Arriving
The universal language of the screen may be all right for the fans, but how about the poor dramatic editors who must meet and try to interview a 11 these foreign stars? Indeed, such a one certainly must be a linguist to find his way around Hollywood these days, so many foreign stars are arriving to take their places on the American screen.

Now it is Marietta Millner, suphono u s y called "the Cleopatra of the Rhine," who is slated to arrive in Hollywood on Sunday, according to the announcement yesterday of B. F. Schulberg, West Coast executive of Famous Players-Lasky.

Miss Millner, Berlin's reigning queen of beauty, and reputed to have the loveliest figure on the continent, where figures are never hidden under a bushel of clothes if we are to believe what we read, is declared to be the greatest motion-picture find of the year.

Upon her arrival in the film capital of the Western world, Miss Millner will start work at once as a featured player for Paramount. The entire foreign colony of Hollywood and the most important executives of Famous Players-Lasky will be present at the station when the exotic Marietta arrives on Sunday. Marietta Millner comes to America riding the crest of a wave of success on the European stage and screen. Unlike many of the foremost German actresses, she is a brunette with classic features. Most of her work on the continent was done in UFA films. Before her present screen debut, she was a disciple of Max Reinhardt, whose gigantic spectacle, "The Miracle," lately played to huge business at Shrine Auditorium.

Lupino Lane is Looking
Lupino Lane is in search of a delectable feminine foil to play his screen sweetheart. He is entirely destitute of leading ladies and yet must start his new Educational comedy tomorrow. "Nip" has his own good nature to blame. When Kathryn McGuire, who has played his fair charmer in his last five comedies, was offered the opportunity of a prominent dramatic role in Colleen Moore's current picture, Nip waived all prior claims on her services. He doesn't know whether he wants his new charmer to be petite or tall, blonde or brunette, but he says he is open to conviction.

Louise Dresser's Appendix
That particularly healthy artist, Louise Dresser, has done the unusual by being ill during the past two weeks, following the completion of "White Flannels" for Warner Brothers.

Miss Dresser's appendix has been acting up. She enters the Good Samaritan Hospital today, where she will undergo observation with the idea of parting with her appendix if it is found that that member is what is causing her illness.

Film Head and Star Arrive
Two important members of First National's forces will arrive here on the 19th inst. if all goes well. According to word just received from the East, Richard Rowland, First National head, and Tabor Mindzenth, new star of the organization, who is called the Hungarian Valentino, will leave New York next Tuesday to journey westward.

By the way, Mindzenth is considered a proper name for a star, in this country, where the Joneses and the Smiths prevail infinitely in number over the Mindzenthys; and so, as soon as the Hungarian star arrives, the first thing that will happen to him will be a change in his film name.

Rowland is coming west on the business of the merger of First National with West Coast Theaters here and Stanley Theaters in the East, and he will aid in making plans for the convention of salesmen of his organization which is to be held here May 19 to 24.

Cupid Note
When Fiers Collings, Paramount scenarist, left Hollywood last spring to go to New York and write a script or two, he did not anticipate returning with a bride. Nevertheless that is just what he did this week.

It was while Collings, who used to be a cameraman, was in Europe, personally photographing some scenes for Mal St. Clair's "The Popular Sin" that the meeting took place, and unromantic circumstances.

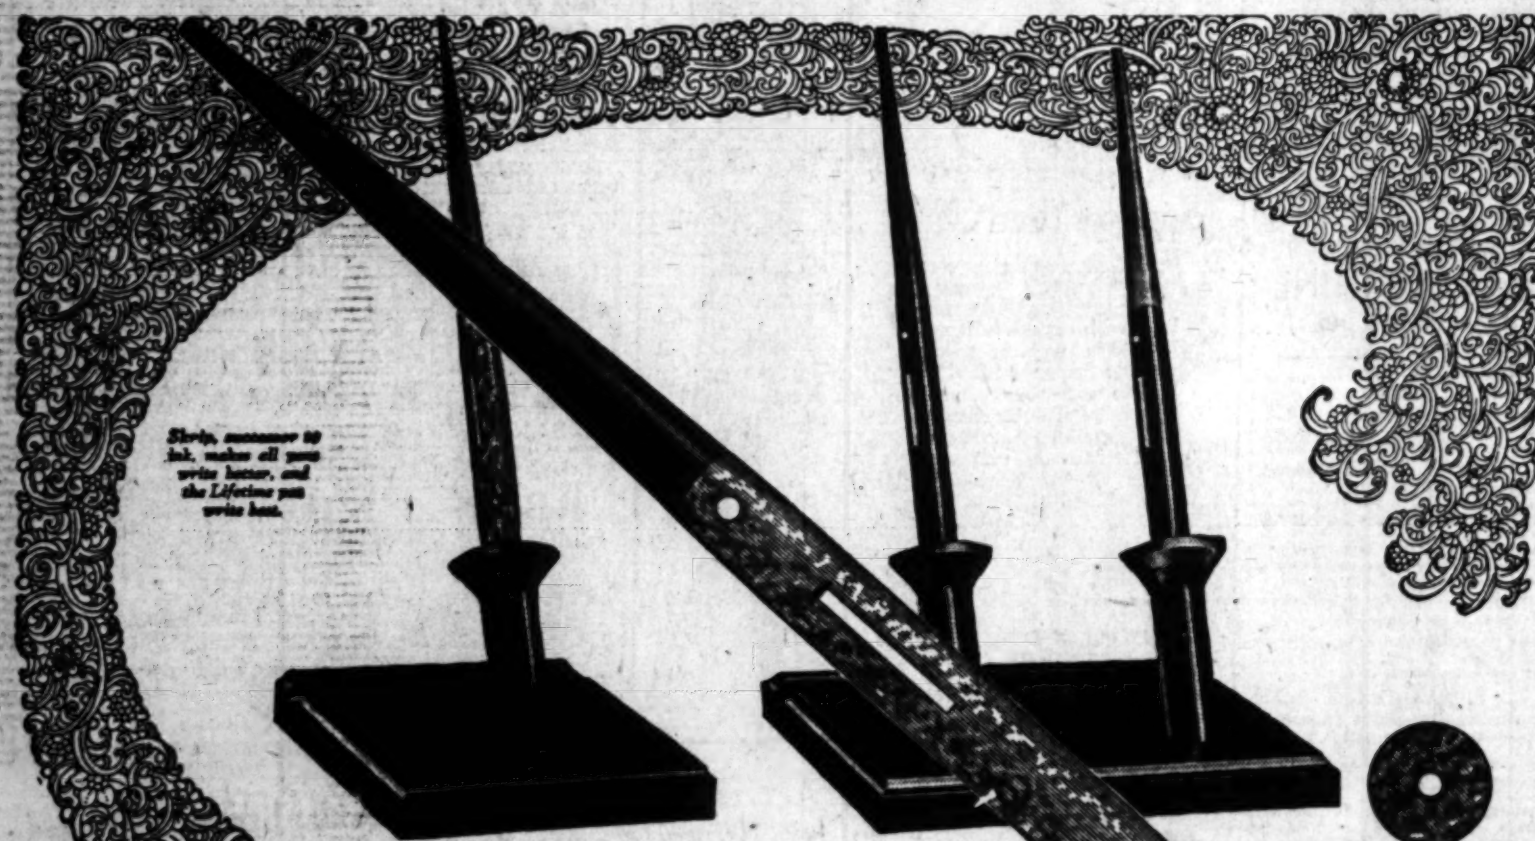

Collings had arranged to stop sidewalk traffic for one shot of the entrance to Alfred Savoir's home in Paris, and was cranking his camera, when a strange young lady walked into the scene and spoiled it. Collings hurried her out in no uncertain terms. She walked away without replying, and that was apparently the end of it, until Collings, leaning over the rail of the Olympic on his way home, saw the tender from Cherbourg delivering a young lady, whose bearing was faintly familiar, on board the steamer.

To make the story short, the young writer's apologies were accepted by Miss Marie Harris, special European correspondent of the Boston Traveler, and they became good friends on the voyage.

OUR HISTORY IN PICTURES

661 The "Copperheads."

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

DURING THE CIVIL WAR, IN THE DARK DAYS FOR THE NORTH BEFORE THE UNION VICTORIES AT GETTYSBURG AND VICKSBURG, THERE APPEARED IN THE NORTHERN STATES A FACTION OF RADICAL DEMOCRATS WHO DENOUNCED THE WAR AS POLITICAL WORK OF THE REPUBLICANS, OPPOSED THE ACTIONS OF THE FEDERAL AUTHORITIES, AND ARGUED FOR THE RIGHTS OF THE STATE AND THE INDIVIDUAL.

THESE MEN WERE CALLED "COPPERHEADS" BECAUSE THEY WORE FOR AN EMBLEM A HEAD OF THE GODDESS OF LIBERTY CUT FROM A COPPER CENT. THEY WERE HATED, FEARED AND SOMETIMES ROUGHLY HANDLED BY THEIR REPUBLICAN NEIGHBORS WHO CLAIMED THAT THE "COPPERHEADS" BY THEIR DISPLAY OF SYMPATHY FOR THE SOUTH WERE AIDING THE ENEMY.

FOR THEIR BOLD UTTERANCES AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT, CONGRESS AND THE EXTRAORDINARY WAR POWERS OF THE PRESIDENT, MANY OF THESE "COPPERHEADS" WERE BROUGHT TO TRIAL BEFORE MILITARY COURTS AND COMMITTED TO FEDERAL PRISONS FOR THE DURATION OF THE WAR.

THE MOST CELEBRATED TRIAL WAS THAT OF GLEN (1863), A CANDIDATE FOR WHO WAS ARRESTED BY THE SIDE FOR HIS CAUSTIC SP. THE ADMINISTRATION AND CONFEDERACY BY PRESIDENT TOMORROW—NEW Y.

A dark, high-contrast, black and white image showing a close-up of a textured surface, possibly a book cover or a piece of fabric. The image is oriented vertically and features a prominent central crease or fold. The texture is characterized by fine, vertical lines and a grainy, almost fibrous appearance. The lighting is dramatic, with deep shadows and bright highlights that emphasize the physical structure of the material. There are no discernible figures, objects, or text within the frame.
